

C. Of C. Directors Approve Four Point Traffic Program

New Interboro Bridge Is Key Point Of Plans

A FOUR-POINT program aimed at alleviating traffic congestion in and around the Stroudsburgs was adopted yesterday by the special highway committee of Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce.

Revolving around the 7th and Main Sts. bottleneck in Stroudsburg; the need for a second bridge linking the twin boroughs; a long range highway plan for Monroe County and better highway marking, the program met approval of the board of directors meeting later in the Penn Stroud Hotel.

The committee designated Jack Kerlin to introduce its proposals to Stroudsburg council and urge the cooperation of borough officials in adopting some recommendations made last year by a planning expert.

PARAMOUNT in the recommendations are those for eliminating diagonal parking on Main St. by placing hoods over every second meter; declaring 7th St. from Main to Ann Sts. no parking zone; remove left-hand turns wherever possible and examine every avenue to alleviate traffic problems in central Stroudsburg.

The committee said they favored incorporating some of these plans on a trial basis this summer to gain reaction of the public and speed-up the motoring public.

It was pointed out that the survey by J. E. Johnston of the AAA, Washington, D. C. showed 77.3 percent of traffic moving into Stroudsburg on Rt. 611 was through-traffic. And that 32.9 percent of the south-bound traffic was passing through without plans to stop.

Johnston's report added that Stroudsburg was not making the best use of its facilities for parking. He recommended the points which the Chamber's highway committee will approach council with, asking their cooperation in promoting these plans.

ONE OBJECTION was raised at the board meeting. That concerned parallel parking which the objector said would further cut down parking facilities here.

But Clifford Cramer, highway committee chairman, pointed out Stroudsburg council's current plans for off-the-street parking, stating such a program would tie in and once the parking lots were in operation, elimination of diagonal parking could be affected.

Committee members said they felt elimination of parking on 7th St., south of Main would speed up the flow of traffic, urging this be done soon on a test plan.

THE SECOND recommendation to link Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg with a second bridge was referred to M. F. Crowe and Leroy Dengler, committee members. They were instructed to draft a letter to State Highway Secretary E. L. Schmidt asking what his specific recommendations for this region are.

Armed with a "black and white" reply from Schmidt, committee members feel they will know what direction to take in future highway action in Monroe County.

Crowe pointed out that the road from Mt. Pocono junction with Rt. 611 to Anasimink currently has several route numbers, 196 and 90, and is confusing to motorists traveling in this section.

It was recommended that more explicit signs be placed at the Delaware Water Gap exit of the new bridge to steer traffic toward the Eastern Poconos and Pocono Mountains.

WILLIAM ALTIER told the committee a sign at the Gap bridge says "East Poconos." The Eastern Poconos Association claims the sign is "non-informative" Altier said, and should read "Eastern Poconos."

Better directional signs in Delaware Water Gap, the committee agreed, would help ease the traffic problem at 7th and Main Sts., in Stroudsburg if motorists had the proper advice on how to reach such points as Marshalls Creek, Bushkill and Canadensis over eastern roads linking with Eagle Valley Corner and the Marshalls Creek intersection of Rt. 402 and 209.

A long range survey by the State of Monroe County roads was the fourth recommendation.

Committee members said if such a program was mapped out, the future of the region would be enhanced and future traffic problems could be coped with more easily. Particular reference was directed in this recommendation at Routes 611 and 209.

The committee already is on record as opposing E. L. Schmidt's "favored" plan for sending Rt. 611 traffic through Club Court, exiting on 9th and Main Sts.

Cramer, who served as temporary committee chairman, was elected permanent chairman at the meeting. Kerlin was elected secretary. Other committee members include Crowe, Altier, Edward C. Jenkins, A. L. Rake and Dengler.

Union Files Answer To Y Suit With New Matter

CHANCE OF A SWIFT court determination in the YNCA injunction suit receded yesterday when the union filed an answer and new matter.

The injunction is asked by Hanford L. Cleveland, plumbing contractor on the Y construction project on which work stopped in September, 1953.

He claimed the Plumber's Union Local 655 had attempted illegally to coerce him into forcing his men to join the union. He asked that the union and Ralph Paul, business agent, be restrained from establishing a picket at the building site.

ON MAY 11 President Judge Fred W. Davis gave his opinion. He denied the preliminary injunction and directed both parties to "proceed promptly to a final determination of the matter."

With yesterday's papers filed by union counsel Forrest Mervine, the likelihood of the court being able to make a "final determination" shortly appeared more remote.

Introduction of "new matter" into such a dispute usually means further argument if not more testimony. Walter Olenick and Elmer D. Christine, plaintiff Cleveland's counsel, was expected to file an answer to the new matter.

The answer referred to 32 points set out in the complaint. The new matter was dealt with in 10 items which followed the answer.

Some of the answers set out these allegations:

THE PICKET WAS SET UP at the Y project solely to "organize the plaintiff's employees." Whatever construction work was stopped at the Y was stopped before the picketing began. No work was stopped as a result of establishing a picket, said the union. Several other contractors worked after the picket was on duty.

At a previous General Hospital construction job, the same union had picketed only to organize Cleveland's men, the answer continued. Business agent Paul had nothing to do with establishing that picket.

No demand was ever made on Cleveland's men to join Local 655, the answer went on. Only efforts made by the union were to arrange a meeting with the men to "settle such differences as existed between them."

The union also denied it had asked Cleveland to call a meeting with his men to urge them to join the union. The union said it only asked Cleveland to tell them which of the men to contact to arrange a meeting.

ANY STATEMENT to Cleveland that the picket would be withdrawn if Cleveland's men would join the union was denied by the union.

The answer said defendants never told Cleveland if he would sign the union contract the picket would be withdrawn. "The picket had nothing to do with signing of the contract by plaintiff with the union, or with removal of the picket," said the answer. In other points the union denied any unlawful or illegal act, unfair labor practice or coercion against Cleveland.

In bringing the new matter into the case, the union through Mervine asserted Cleveland's business is "closely identified with interstate commerce, and that at least 40 per cent of the products handled by Cleveland are manufactured outside Pennsylvania. Value of these products is at least $80,000, the union alleged.

Therefore, the union argued, the county court has no jurisdiction over the dispute.

IN A SECOND POINT, the union asserted that a labor dispute exists between Cleveland's men and the union in that a "majority of Cleveland's men were former union members and that they have either been suspended or have withdrawn from the union . . . and that union efforts have been for the sole purpose of settling such differences and reorganizing" Cleveland's men. A labor dispute also exists in that Cleveland "mingles union and non-union men," defendants went on.

Other points of new matter introduced by the union were these: That the picket at the Y has at all times been a one-man picket and in "every respect peaceful."

That defendants never interfered with Cleveland or his men in the course of their work at the Y. That the jurisdiction over this case is with the National Labor Relations Board instead of the county court. The union wound up by asking the court to dismiss Cleveland's complaint. Affidavits were signed by Franklin Clifton, treasurer of the local; and Paul as business agent and defendant.

Red China Lists One Dead In POW Report To World

GENEVA (AP)—Red China briefly raised the veil of secrecy surrounding the fate of 83 Americans held on the Chinese mainland to announce yesterday the death of a civilian and to list some military personnel as dead or missing.

The Chinese Communists, in an exchange of information with the U. S. delegation to the Geneva conference, reported they were holding 30 American civilians in prison.

One of the 32 civilians listed by the United States as detained, W. L. Winter, was arrested as a spy and died Feb. 27, 1951, in Kwangtung Province, the Communists said.

Winter had done mission work in a Kiangsi Province leprosy hospital. His home address was not given. Another, the Rev. John B. Maye, a Roman Catholic missionary from Scranton, Pa., was never held and is now living in Changsha, Hunan Province, it was reported.

THE INFORMATION was given at the fourth meeting of U. S. and Chinese representatives here. U. Alexis Johnson, U. S. Ambassador to Czechoslovakia and acting head of the U. S. delegation since the departure of the Under-Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith, advised the Chinese in turn that the United States is now prepared to permit 15 detained Chinese nationals in the United States to depart. Johnson turned over a list of their names.

At the same time, Johnson told the Communists that half of the Chinese who had been detained "no longer wish to leave the United States," an American communiqué said.

Reserve Board Eases Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board yesterday further eased its already easy money policy.

It announced a new reduction in reserve requirements that would open the way for nine billion dollars of additional credit to flow into the national economy.

Power Line Charges Fence Lad Touched

BANGOR—Two men were killed late yesterday when their plane crashed in an alfalfa field in lower Mt. Bethel Twp., north of here. Minutes later a 14-year-old farm boy was electrocuted when he grasped a barbed wire fence activated by a power line felled by the crash.

State police of the Bethlehem barracks identified the dead in the plane crash as: Joseph T. Ted Phillips, 41, operator of the Phillipsburg, N. J. Airport and a resident of Bloomsburg, N. J., and John H. Dobes of Easton.

The dead youth was Fred B. Miller Jr., whose father operated the farm where the crash occurred.

STATE POLICE reported this eye-witness account from farmhand Ellwood Strouse:

He, the boy and the boy's father were walking through a field toward a herd of cows about 4:10 p. m. when they spotted the plane. A two-seater Aerona, flying low over an adjoining field of the Miller farm.

The plane struck a 4,600-volt electric power line and crashed. The Miller boy started running toward the crash and attempted to separate two strands of barbed wire separating the two fields. When his hand touched the wire he was electrocuted. The power line had fallen across both the plane and the fence.

OFFICIALS SAID the boy's father and Strouse realized something was wrong with the lad immediately. They tried to pull him free but felt the electricity in his hand. They then grabbed his clothing and tugged him free of the fence.

The Belvidere Ambulance Rescue Squad worked over the boy from 4:25 p. m. to 6 p. m. Efforts were halted when Dr. Alfred Boettger of Martins Creek pronounced the boy dead.

The power had to be shut off before the men could be removed from the plane.

STATE POLICE said Phillips' daughter, Terry, was killed in a plane crash near the Phillipsburg Airport in 1951, in which four were killed.

State police said the crash came during a routine student training flight.

The bodies of the two men were released to Hutchinson funeral home, Martins Creek, by deputy coroner Fred Ashton, Easton. Young Miller's body was sent to McFadden funeral home, Belvidere.

THE SCENE of the crash is a field about 150 feet off the highway—a half mile south of River-ton and directly opposite Belvidere, across the river.

Civil Aeronautics Association inspectors and Pennsylvania State Police Aeronautics inspectors will investigate the cause of the crash, said Deputy Coroner Ashton.

Steel Workers Study Wage Negotiations

Trigger Burke Faces Charges

BOSTON (AP)—Sum, alias Elmer "Trigger" Burke, 37, New York hoodlum wanted in Manhattan in connection with a half-dozen murders, left a cool police cell in 90-degree temperature yesterday to face charges of possessing a machine gun.

Police found such a weapon in a small arsenal in Burke's lodging house room Thursday night. They charge he used it more than 24 hours earlier in a vain attempt to mow down Joseph "Specs" O'Keefe, 47, one-time suspect in the Brink's million-dollar robbery of four years ago.

Inter-American Commission On Peace Decides To Halt Foreign Aggression Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Inter-American Peace Commission yesterday agreed to a last-minute Guatemalan request to suspend temporarily its consideration of a Guatemalan complaint alleging a "foreign aggression" against her.

The action was taken at an open meeting of the five-nation group at the Pan-American Union. The decision was unanimous. The commission, however, made it clear it was not giving up its interest in the charges against Honduras and Nicaragua raised by Guatemala, nor did it acknowledge that the United Nations has complete jurisdiction in the case.

IN ANOTHER Washington development yesterday, the State Department said the government of strife-torn Guatemala had pledged to "make every effort" to protect about 1,200 U. S. citizens in that country.

The department spokesman, Press Officer Lincoln White, said Guatemala has also agreed to let the Americans leave the country if they want to, "but up to the present time this does not appear to be necessary."

Neutralization Of Cambodia, Laos Sought By Red China

GENEVA (AP)—Red China's Chou En-lai pushed ahead here yesterday with a diplomatic offensive apparently aimed at neutralizing Laos and Cambodia.

These Indochinese states, less heavily populated than war-torn Viet Nam on the coast, stand between Thailand and the bulk of the Communist-led Vietnamese rebels under Ho Chi Minh.

Chou received Cambodian Foreign Minister Tee Phan at Red Chinese headquarters Sunday. He followed this up yesterday with a conference with Laotian Vice Premier-Foreign Minister Phoui Sananikone.

THE RED Chinese Premier-Foreign Minister also invited Phan and Sananikone to dinner last night with Vietnamese Foreign Minister Phan Van Dong scheduled to be an additional guest.

This would be the first contact by Laotian and Cambodian leaders with the rebel minister.

With the conference proper in recess for the day, French, Laotian, Cambodian and Vietnamese officials worked privately to implement the conference's decision Saturday to set up a pair of two-party military commissions to study the withdrawal of "foreign" troops from Laos and Cambodia.

ONE COMMISSION would be French-Laotian plus the Vietnamese. The other would be Cambodian-Vietnamese. There are no French troops in Cambodia beyond a handful of technicians and instructors.

THE SCENE of the crash is a field about 150 feet off the highway—a half mile south of River-ton and directly opposite Belvidere, across the river.

Civil Aeronautics Association inspectors and Pennsylvania State Police Aeronautics inspectors will investigate the cause of the crash, said Deputy Coroner Ashton.

Both Sides Now Claim Successes

By Sam Summerlin
TEGUCIGALPA, HONDURAS (AP)—The Guatemalan government claimed a victory last night in what it said was the first major contact between its armed forces and the anti-Communist invaders who smashed into the country four days ago in an effort to overthrow President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman's regime.

A communique broadcast by the Guatemalan radio said "well-trained regulars armed with modern weapons" met the rebels at Gualan, east of the railway center of Zacapa, about 20 miles inside Guatemala, and quoted military authorities as saying the rebels were driven out of the town after a brief skirmish. The announcement made no mention of casualties.

The communique also said "quite a fight" developed at Puerto Barrios yesterday when rebels renewed their efforts to take the Caribbean port. It added that the Puerto Barrios radio had gone off the air.

THE "LIBERATION" radio, which is supporting the invaders, meanwhile announced that the rebels held possession of 25 towns in Guatemala.

The Guatemalan announcement of the clash at Gualan followed reports that a major battle was shaping up at Zacapa, 15 miles west of Gualan.

Both Zacapa and Gualan are on the main railroad linking the Capital city, Guatemala, with the chief port, Puerto Barrios.

TROOPS of the leftist government of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman were reported in Associated Press dispatches from Guatemala tonight to be assembling in the area of Zacapa, a city of 8,000 population on the main railroad between the capital and the Caribbean port of Puerto Barrios.

An anti-Communist rebel flier, interviewed at Nueva Ocotepeque, in Honduras near the border, said troops of the "liberation army" were moving by truck toward Chiquimula and Zacapa. He said a major battle may be fought at Zacapa.

The rebels said yesterday their planes also had bombed Coban, a garrison town in central Guatemala, from a base inside the country.

THE flier of Nueva Ocotepeque said a five-hour battle was fought Sunday, for possession of Esquipulas, a cathedral town five miles from the border, and the invaders began moving on Zacapa after that victory.

Three Guatemalan soldiers were killed in the battle, he reported, while the invasion forces suffered no casualties. He added that 500 Guatemalan citizens, including some soldiers, joined the rebels at Esquipulas, and joined in the march on Zacapa after receiving arms.

He reported leaflets containing an ultimatum for the surrender of Zacapa and Chiquimula had been dropped at both places by rebel planes.

Dispels Europe's Economy Fears

WASHINGTON (AP)—A report from the Commerce Department yesterday re-emphasized a fear that has haunted this nation's allies in Europe—that if the United States caught an economic cold the results in Europe would be pneumonia.

This fear arose from the fact that war-blasted Europe has for years been almost totally dependent for its economic health upon the United States.

Sen. Chase Wins Smashing Maine Victory

PORTLAND, MAINE (AP)—Sen. Margaret Chase Smith won a smashing victory in the Maine primary last night from Robert L. Jones—the man with whom she contends Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) apparently tried to defeat her.

The woman senator, who began criticizing McCarthy and his Communist-hunting methods four years ago, built up an unbeatable lead when returns from 368 of Maine's 626 precincts pushed her out front 42,133 to 8,010 for the Republican senatorial nomination.

While it was a landslide defeat for Jones, it couldn't be labeled that for the controversial McCarthy. The Wisconsin senator never was a real, concrete issue through the course of the campaign.

It was only at the last minute, on the eve of the primary, that Mrs. Smith produced the claim that McCarthy apparently planted Jones in the race deliberately.

Whether or not McCarthy had a hand in fostering Jones' candidacy, the people of Maine apparently just weren't concerned. Their choice was pretty much between the senator and Jones as individuals. And Maine likes Mrs. Smith.

Cement Strike Is Settled

CATSKILL, N.Y. (AP)—Union officials announced yesterday that about 215 striking employees of the North American Cement Corp. plant in nearby Alsen had voted to accept a company offer of a 5-cent-an-hour wage increase and would return to work today.

The first break in the month-old strike that has tied up plants of four companies in upstate New York and central Pennsylvania was made public after a meeting here of Local 50, AFL United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers.

State Farmer Group Against Price Support

By RICHARD L. GRAVES
HARRISBURG. — The Pennsylvania Farmers Assn. reports that 25 of the commonwealth's 30 congressmen will vote "for sure" against extension of high price supports on agricultural commodities.

"We know we have a majority of Pennsylvania's congressmen to vote against price supports," said C. M. Wilson, secretary of the PFA.

Wilson and two other officials of the PFA, affiliated with the American Farm Bureau Federation, spent the past week in Washington contacting the state's congressional delegation.

"WE HAVE 25 of the 30 votes for sure," Wilson said in a report on the trip.

The highly controversial farm price support program is expected to come up for action on the floor of the House early in July, Wilson said. The House agriculture committee recently recommended extension of the high price support program for another year.

All of the state's major farm organizations have taken stands against the high price support program. They favor flexible price supports or elimination of supports entirely.

THE BULK of the backing for strong price supports comes from mid-western states where the farm economy hinges on the prices of one or two commodities. These states—regardless of party—have fought the administration program, which is designed to eliminate the high price support plan and its accompanying huge surpluses.

Benson Orders Wheat Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson yesterday ordered a further cutback of 13 per cent in wheat planting for the 1955 crop and called a grower referendum for July 23 to approve rigid marketing quotas to enforce planting goals.

Benson also announced perhaps the strictest cutbacks in the history of American farming to prevent the production of new crop surpluses. The government now has about six and a half billion dollars invested in farm surpluses, mainly wheat, cotton, corn, and dairy products.

The wheat reduction comes on top of a 17 per cent decrease in this year's wheat acreage. With the harvest of this year's crop, the nation will have a two-year supply of this bread grain.

THE SECRETARY is expected to announce later similar control programs for next year's cotton, major types of tobacco, peanuts, corn, and sugar crops—all of which face surplus production problems.

The rigid overall controls announced by Benson are designed to keep extra wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, peanut and sugar crop land from being diverted to the production of excessive supplies of other cash crops such as soybeans, flaxseed, oats, rye, barley, potatoes, dry beans and vegetables.

Under this program, farmers will be required to comply with federal planting allotments for all crops for which allotments are made in order to be eligible for price support and on any crop. Allotments are now planned for wheat, cotton, major types of tobacco, peanuts and sugar crops.

Strip Cropping Spectacular Soil Conservation Practice

By A. Norman Dietrick
County Soil Conservationist

CONTOUR STRIP cropping on sloping land is probably the most spectacular of all soil and water conservation practices. The resulting pattern of fields which have been laid out and farmed "with the lady of the land" is not only effective in checking run-off and soil loss, but also very pleasing to the eye whether viewed from the highway or from the air.

Travelers everywhere in the United States are impressed with the changing landscape. In this instance it is a change for the better.

THE PRINCIPLE of contour strip cropping is to alternate cultivated strips with strips of hay or small grain. The sod strip will check much of the soil movement from the cultivated strip above.

Each strip boundary is laid out on the level or contour so that each row becomes in effect a small check-dam, to hold the soil and water. Strips are usually about 100 to 120 feet wide, but vary with the steepness of the slope.

ON LONGER SLOPES, over 400 or 500 feet, diversion terraces should be considered to supplement the strips. They divert excess water and carry it to a safe outlet.

Preliminary work for this type of lay-out has been done on the Alvin Dreisbach farm at Kresgeville and the Muller Bros. Stock farm near Sciota.

COMPLETED systems of this kind may be seen on the Raymond Allegor farm on Chipperfield Drive and on the Arlington Martin farm near Effort. All of the above are cooperating with the Monroe County Soil Conservation District. Mr. Martin is chairman of the District Directors.

Regulations Are Changed For Selection Of County Conservation Committees

THE U.S. AGRICULTURE Department has made some important changes in the regulations governing the election, qualifications and duties of county and community agricultural stabilization and conservation committees.

The changes could:

ONE—Create county and community election boards to conduct the annual election of committees.

TWO—Limit to three the number of consecutive terms a farmer may serve on the committee.

THREE—Prohibit officials of general farm organizations from serving as members of county ASC committees.

FOUR—Prohibit county committees from being sales agents for various federal agencies, or employees of their own county office.

IN OTHER revisions, the USDA provides that removal of committees can only be by majority vote of the state ASC committee. Prior regulations did not make that provision.

At the same time ousted committee members now have the right of appeal to the state ASC committee and to higher branches of the USDA.

The changes were the outgrowth of a year's study of the ASC system.

Dr. Harold S. Pond Jr. will be out of town June 17 through July 4, inclusive.—Adv.

Chamber Industrial Group To Study Housing For New Firm

Crowe Says Workers Homes Are Needed

EFFORTS TO HAVE a large manufacturing plant located in Monroe County were unfolded to members of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce board of directors at the Penn Stroud Hotel yesterday.

M. F. Crowe, chairman of the industrial committee, said the firm is reportedly favoring the Stroudsburs for a new plant but seeks data on housing and the labor market here.

Crowe said if local officials could assure a housing authority would be created to handle some 2,000 employees for this firm, chances of its locating here would be enhanced. He said he would head a delegation to New York state in the near future to further discuss industrial plans for this section.

LEROY MIKELS, president, urged members to consider some form of welcome for 200 families who will soon occupy the Wherry Housing development across from the Tobyhanna Signal Corps depot.

One form of greeting reviewed was by the county's Welcome Wagon. Mikels said he would appoint a committee to work with local merchants for some type program. First of the new residents are expected to move in about August 1, it was announced.

Finance committee was ordered to investigate and report at the next meeting a proposal for funds to assist with promoting the Pocono television and motion picture-wise.

FRANCIS SHINN, former TV official and local resort operator, outlined the program for "Popular Poconos," a 10-minute review featuring the praises of the Poconos vacationland.

Mikels explained that Shinn produced and directed the entire show and arranged for its presentation two times last week on Channel 5, New York. He said Shinn has agreed his work and the money used in perfecting the film is his contribution to the community.

The Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau recently allocated $1,000 for promoting the film, it was reported. A similar contribution from the Chamber of Commerce would help further publicize the area, it was pointed out.

SHINN SAID THE current film is not what he hopes to accomplish but that a firm would come here to photograph in color the scenic and historical sites of the region for later incorporation into film. This professional-type film, Shinn said, would be a credit to the area and would reach thousands of prospective vacation-bound city people. He urged if any such action was taken it be done this summer while the material is available.

Members also discussed hiring an assistant secretary to Secretary Harold Swenson to promote membership. No action was taken.

Bethlehem Boy Saved From Drowning

A BOY WAS revived yesterday at Delaware, N. J., after being under water about four minutes.

The lad was kept under oxygen treatment and artificial respiration during the whizzing ride to East Stroudsburg General Hospital.

He was listed there as Douglas Knecht, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Knecht, 445 Garrison St., of Bethlehem, a camper at Camp Mohican for Boys, operated by Bethlehem Boys Club.

Dr. Howard Ott, Portland, was called on the emergency at 4:45 p.m. as he was sitting down to dinner. When he arrived, some of the Belvidere Emergency Rescue Squad were applying artificial respiration and oxygen.

DR. OTT WAS told the boy had been swimming, but that no one had seen him go under. One of the other camps literally stumbled onto the body by stepping on the submerged body, the physician said he was told.

Judging from the time last seen and the boy's condition, submersion was estimated at three or four minutes, Dr. Ott was told.

The lad was beginning to breathe again when he was loaded into the ambulance. Dr. Ott said the Belvidere crew and its completely-equipped vehicle was largely responsible for saving young Knecht from death.

The boy was admitted to the hospital. His parents visited him there last night.

Bobo Parries All Questions On Divorce

RENO, NEV. (AP) — Barbara "Bobo" Rockefeller remained holed up in her lavish hotel suite yesterday for the second straight day. She politely — but firmly — parried all questions concerning her divorce plans.

The 37-year-old blonde, who rose from obscurity of a midwestern coal mining town to the plush penthouse of Park Ave., is writing the final chapter of her Cinderella marriage to oil tycoon Winthrop Rockefeller.

The couple, mediating through attorneys, reached a property settlement that will see Rockefeller pay five and a half million dollars in exchange for a signed, sealed and delivered divorce.

This was reliably reported by friends.

Man Without Shoes Makes Guilty Plea
JAMES F. McDONOUGH, about 40, New York City, pleaded guilty yesterday on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct in Mount Pocono.

Hearing was before Justice of the Peace Emma B. Merwin, that borough. Arresting officer was William Post, who took the man in custody about 1 p.m. Sunday on the borough's Main St.

He attracted attention of borough residents partly because, although well dressed, he was without shoes. He carried his money in a cigar box. He took the money from the box yesterday to pay his $10 fine and costs.

Officer Post escorted McDough to a New York-bound bus after the hearing.

Blood Bank Visit Tomorrow Will Test Curtailment Of Blood Assignments To Area

A LAST MINUTE EFFORT to stave off any curtailment of the blood bank service in Monroe County will be made tomorrow when the American Red Cross bloodmobile unit visits the Elks Lodge in East Stroudsburg.

Leroy Mikels, blood bank chairman for Monroe County last night appealed for walk-in volunteers to help the county chapter attain its 196-pint quota.

Only 15 cards pledging a pint of blood each have been turned over to the committee, to date, Mikels said.

LAST WEEK Mikels was advised by Gordon Bell, director of the Wilkes-Barre blood donor center, that collections are falling off sharply, especially this month.

Unless the 196-pint quota is obtained tomorrow, Mikels said, Monroe County will go on a restricted plan. It never has been necessary to place the curtailed program in effect here, it was pointed out.

Actually, the June quota here is 125 pints, Mikels points out. But the yearly total already is 71 pints behind schedule, meaning the entire amount must be secured tomorrow.

If this drive fails, Mikels said, Monroe County General Hospital will find it difficult to secure sufficient blood supplies for the month.

IN THE PAST 11 months the hospital has used 1,171 pints of blood for patients actually hospitalized there. In addition the Red Cross has sent 86 pints for four county residents hospitalized outside the area.

The bloodmobile unit will be at the Elks from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. for all those desiring to contribute, Mikels said. He urged volunteers to call Red Cross headquarters in Stroudsburg and pledge support.

Deadline Set At Lansford

LANSFORD, PA. (AP) — W. J. Parton, president of the Lehigh Navigation Coal Co., last night gave Panther Valley miners until Thursday to return to the company's hard coal mines, before marking down as a failure a company back-to-work plan.

"It is my duty now to tell you that money for the maintenance of the mines in the Panther Valley is exhausted," he said in a radio talk directed to striking miners and other residents of Lansford, Coaldale and Tanawaga.

The cautiously-worded speech is no ultimatum that the LNC's operations would be shut down permanently if the miners did not end a three-week walkout.

PARTON pointed out, however, that he must make a report to the LNC parent company, the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Co., at a board meeting in Philadelphia on Thursday.

"Unless something transpires in the meantime, I will have to report to the board that I have failed," he said. "If such proves to be the case and my attempts to save most of the jobs for the people of the valley end in failure, it will not be for the want of having tried."

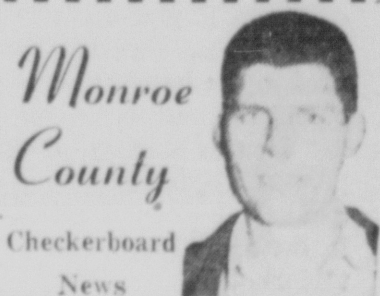

WITH business at its record peak, Connecticut paid out more than eight million dollars in unemployment compensation in 1953.

SUMMER EGG QUALITY

Does Summer egg quality give you a headache? Seems there's always a surplus of low-quality eggs going to breaking plants, but never enough top quality eggs. Folks who break out a few "runny" eggs lose their appetite in a hurry, and consumption of all eggs drop.

Production of top quality summer eggs is actually not too difficult. It takes a little effort, but folks who are trying report it pays.

FLIES NEEDN'T BE A BOTHER ANYMORE

Seems like flies get smarter every year, and build up resistance to more new chemical killers. But Purina Research workers are smarter than flies, and they've got programs that really do kill. First there's Purina Building Spray that you use in dairy barns, poultry houses and other buildings where flies are troublesome.

Then there is a new spray for sows. It both kills and repels after you spray.

For use inside the house, Purina Household Spray is tops for killing flies, mosquitoes, moths, silver fish, roaches and many other pests.

Then there's a special beef cattle spray, too. We'll be glad to explain the details of this fly control program to you.

We are looking forward to a visit from you. If there is any way we can help with your livestock or poultry feeding or management problems, remember we are here to serve you.

Big Insurance For So Little

If you are one of the Monroe Countians who have not been contacted by the American Red Cross blood donor committee of 19 to appear tomorrow at the Elks Club and give blood, please call Red Cross headquarters, Stroudsburg 357, NOW.

Deficits in the central blood bank at Wilkes-Barre—including a 71-pint shortage from Monroe County in the past two months—threaten the free flow of blood so effectively used in the hospital here and for local patients in hospitals outside the region.

Monroe County—unless it produces that 71-pint deficit, plus a 125-pint quota for June—will be limited in the amount of blood it gets back from the central blood bank in the same proportion that it fails to meet the 196 pints this month.

That means that should an emergency develop affecting you or your family, and an urgent call is sent for blood to save your life or a member of your family, the Wilkes-Barre Center may be compelled to turn you down because a quota was not met.

As LeRoy Mikels, chairman of the Red Cross blood donor program put it:

"It's like a bank account in one of our local banks. You just can't keep drawing it out unless you maintain a quota of deposits against which you can draw. No financial house permits it. And now, it has come to pass that our regional blood center can no longer afford to do it."

You probably know many of the persons who received 1,171 pints FREE during the last 11 months at the General Hospital. Perhaps you know some of the persons who received 86 pints of blood while patients in hospitals outside the county.

Some of them were perhaps close friends of yours. Maybe they were nearer and dearer to you.

There was no question. When the call went out for blood for these people it was given FREE.

It will continue to be just like that if you not only pledge now to give blood Wednesday, but carry out that pledge at the Elks Club between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

It's your life to do with as you see fit, but it certainly makes good sense to give yourself so much insurance—FREE—by giving so little as a pint of blood. Make that call NOW.

Costly Bargains

If a manufacturer sold his product for one price to one kind of customer and another price to a different kind of customer, the Justice Department would have the law on him.

But if another agency of the government, the Agriculture Department, arranges for farm products to be sold to Americans at one price and to foreigners for another—and lower—price, that is supposed to be good business. At least that is the view among supporters of the rigid high price supports.

The taxpayers, who have to support both these agencies, might have trouble reconciling the difference—but nobody has asked their opinion.

However, the important thing, is to see that this dumping—or whatever more pleasant word the government prefers to call it—does not happen again and again.

If it does, what it costs us this year will be peanuts compared to the eventual burden. There is no limit to the amount of business an organization can do by selling a product for less than it cost to produce, if its nation's treasury is bottomless.

If the government has any business in agriculture at all, it is to safeguard the farmers against disaster and encourage them to produce what their natural market will buy at a reasonable price. Subsidized exports are nonsense, but so are unreasonably high price supports. If Congress does its duty, it will follow President Eisenhower's request to end them.

The Once Over

VERDICT PROPHECY

Following is this column's prediction of the majority, minority and public report on the McCarthy case:

Majority (GOP) Report: We have completed the tedious task of going over the testimony and consider it an ordeal beyond the call of duty. We find that photography is here to stay and that the close-up TV shot can seriously impede important Federal business. We have reached the final conclusion that justice can never be done in this case unless we find out who started the thing and whether double martins featured the preliminary discussions.

We are unable to bring in any red hot verdict against Joe McCarthy, but wish he could be a little more judicial in the pinches and out out the routines that tend to add three strokes per pound to Joe's golf score. We find Roy Cohn guilty of little but a common error of youth: the desire to steal second with the bases loaded, in moments of high enthusiasm. We think Bob Stevens clearly illustrates what can happen when you bruise too easily and worry too much. We find non-sensical the idea that our great, able and valiant Army can have its morale destroyed by a rough cross-examination of a colonel.

We find that both sides made more mistakes than the Brooklyn Dodgers made in the last world series with the Yankees, and that it would have been better for everybody, including the TV public, if the hassle had been quietly settled in a private fight in a dark basement.

SWISS WATCH

Robert S. Allen Reports

Oppenheimer's Fate Hangs On Decision Of One Man

Washington. — Dr. Robert Oppenheimer's fate apparently hangs on the decision of one man.

He is Atomic Commissioner Eugene Zuckert, 43-year-old Democrat whose term expires at the end of this month. The former Assistant Air Force Secretary knows he will not be reappointed.

The Joint Congressional Atomic Committee has not been advised how Zuckert is likely to vote.

Possible significant indications regarding his viewpoint have been discussed. But beyond these conjectures, the Committee's information goes no further than that Zuckert is the "swing man" in the spectacular security case.

The Joint Committee, which has supervisory jurisdiction over atomic matters, has taken no official action as yet on the Oppenheimer controversy. Representative W. Sterling Cole (R., N. Y.), chairman, has announced there may be an investigation of how the five Atomic Commissioners vote on the matter. Such a probe would require a Committee majority.

Privately, committee members are keeping a close check on the Commission's handling of the explosive problem. The possibility of political repercussions in this year's elections is undoubtedly a major factor in this intent interest.

Following are highlights of what committee members have been told:

The issue that will be decided by the Atomic Commission is whether to accept the majority or minority report of the special Gray Board. Two members held that Oppenheimer is a security risk, and the third member that he is not.

There has been no vote or any other decisive action as yet within the Commission. But there have been certain "soundings" which have disclosed the general line-up. This is described as a 2 to 2 tie, with Zuckert holding the deciding ballot.

The other Commissioners are credited as follows: For the majority report (anti-Oppenheimer), Chairman Lewis Strauss and Joseph Campbell, who was named to the Commission last year at Strauss' instigation. For the minority report (pro-Oppenheimer), Commissioners Thomas Murray and Henry Smyth.

Notes: Zuckert, who prides himself on being extremely security conscious, is making no secret of his resentment at Representative Cole's threat to investigate the Commission if it approves the minority report. . . . Chairman Strauss has made inquiries in newspaper circles about hiring a personal press assistant. The Atomic Commission has an "Information Director" (publicity man), but apparently Strauss feels he needs a private one.

The Main Event — You can write it down that the Democrats will make a knockdown-and-drag-out fight to increase the personal income exemptions when the Senate tackles the big tax reduction bill.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Only Way To Investigate Is To Find Leads To Corruption, Graft, Spying

The McCarthy-Stevens hearings raised the issue of the role of the informer in the American Government. If the Congress wishes that there should be no informers inside the Administration, it should not have appointed any committee to investigate the Administration.

After all, the only way to investigate is to find leads to corruption, graft, subversion or espionage. A Congressional committee cannot know where to look unless somehow it is brought to the committee's attention that something has gone wrong. Someone must tell.

Congress has two functions in this connection: first, it must investigate all government departments not only to obtain data for future legislation but also to determine what appropriations are to be allotted to the various departments; secondly, it acts as a watchdog agency to see how the laws Congress passes are enforced.

Army Counsel Joseph Welch seemed at no time to understand why the Congressional investigative committee exists. Perhaps he did not want to know. Perhaps had he admitted, even to himself, that such committees exist to investigate, he could not have tried his case. It was starting to listen to weeks of this hearing and to note how little a distinguished Boston lawyer knows about the workings of Congress.

When he made his "sick-em" Reports to the contrary are wish-thinking. The Democrats' plans are all set and they are waiting to go.

Their secret strategy calls for a three-pronged attack as follows: They will start with a proposal to boost the personal deduction by $200, from $600 to $800. If that's rejected they will then offer an amendment for a $100 hike. If that is rebuffed, the third move will be a flat $20 credit for all taxpayers.

The individual sponsors of these plans will be Senators Walter George (D., Ga.), Robert Kerr (D., Okla.) and J. Allen Frenn (D., Del.). The latter face tough reelection battles this year.

The Democrats will have to have Republican votes to win. A secret Democratic nose count disclosed the following result: 33 for the proposed increased personal deductions, 8 opposed, and 7 on the fence.

Democratic leaders are saying privately they are "sure" of four Republican votes and believe they have a good chance to win over two to four others. If they can do that, they'll put over one of the three amendments.

But the outcome of this key battle is anyone's guess. The Democrats won't be the only ones to touch off fireworks. A stormy tray is also planned by two Republicans.

Senators George Aiken, Vt., and John Williams, Del., have teamed up to attack the long-standing 27-1/2 percent oil and gas depletion allowance. They will wage a fight to cut it to 15 percent.

And Senator Paul Douglas (D., Ill.) will try to slash more excise taxes. He will propose cuts on a number of consumer items, particularly household appliances. He will also demand a radical vote on an amendment to allow farmers to deduct as operating expenses up to $5,000 a year for farm machinery.

Two major features of the tax bill — the reduction on dividends and speedier depreciation on machinery and other capital investments — are certain of passage.

Coronation — The Laurel Blossom Time Queen assumed her throne in Stroudsburg on roof of First Stroudsburg National Bank and on the Stroudsburg Security Trust Co. under direction of Frank S. LaBar, chairman, "Ted" Burnett, Milo Rasely and others took tickets. Parade prize winners were Penn-Stroud Hotel, Keiper's Home Laundry and Wolf Hollow Country Club.

Birthday — Mary Louise Keller entertained at a theatre party to celebrate her 12th birthday.

Anniversary — Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Morris Evans celebrated their 10th wedding anniversary.

That is the way with most souvenirs. They are all very, very valuable at the time. First they are put on a table in the living room for all visitors to see. Then they go up into the attic. Finally they end up next to the garbage can, ready for the junkman.

What a good thing it is that memories don't take up any space. By the way, the souvenir hunting season is just starting. Remember the junkman.

Penguins, contrary to popular impression, do not all live in regions of ice and snow. Besides the Antarctic species, many inhabit the east and west coasts of South America, the shores of South Africa, and the areas of Australia, New Zealand and Pacific islands. However, penguins are not found north of the Equator.

CUTIES

"Have you ever considered the possibility of going barefoot?"

The McCarthy Committee has "the whole story" of Who Was Responsible for the promotion and honorable discharge of Major (5th Amendment) Peress on record — but not under oath. . . . Brig. Gen. Between the time he gabbed "off the record" and taking the witness chair Army counsel Adams cautioned him about orders "from higher-ups" to shadup.

Miss Truman Wins Plaudits In Her Debut

By Leonard Randolph
MOUNTAINHOME — Margaret Truman, daughter of former president Harry Truman, made her legitimate stage debut here last night in a romantic comedy, "Autumn Crocus," before a large and obviously enthusiastic audience.

It was a debut made to the accompaniment of dozens of flash-bulbs, the stark, blinding white lights of TV and newsreel camera crews.

Miss Truman's performance ran smoothly, without interruption. Audience comments during intermission indicated that some were surprised, some were gratified, some were more impressed at the end than they had seemed during the first act intermission.

Throughout both intermissions comments were heard concerning Miss Truman's father's illness and operation. The general impression was that most of the audience had come prepared to be convinced, but also that most of them were rooting for the 30-year-old concert singer, television and radio actress.

FOCUS of last night's baiting of newsreel and TV cameras at Pocono Playhouse, Mountainhome, was Margaret Truman, shown here with Playhouse opera or Rowena Stevens. Miss Truman made legitimate stage debut in "Autumn Crocus," was viewed by a sell-out first-night audience.

New Yorkers See 22 Story Building's Walls Erected By Crew In Single Day

NEW YORK (AP) — Hundreds of New Yorkers stared open-mouthed yesterday as the sleek walls of a new 22-story office building went up at the dizzying pace of a whole story about every 38 minutes.

The walls were thin, prefabricated sheets of aluminum, each section two stories high.

As they were swung into place by block and tackle and bolted to the building's frame, fascinated crowds watched from the street.

By noon, the sheath of metal had climbed about half way to the top.

THE 69 WORKERS were expected to complete the job by nightfall. Ordinarily, it would take eight to ten weeks.

The new structure is being built by Tishman Realty and Construction Co. at 57th St. and Park Ave. in midtown Manhattan.

The towering metal panels, an eighth of an inch thick and each about four-and-a-half feet wide, had been stacked vertically at strategic spots up and down the frame of the building before being swung into place and bolted yesterday.

Johnson's Service Station
Specializes In Car Waxing

SOCIOLOGISTS TELL US that modern day Americans have more leisure time than ever before. But the average homeowner might be prone to doubt this when he makes a mental list of all he has to do on a "free" weekend.

The grass grows like crazy, the cellar needs cleaning, the flower bed needs weeding and the family car could use a good coat of wax.

JOHNSON'S Amoco Service, N. Fifth St., near Phillips, probably can't help you out on most of these problems, but they can solve that car shining problem.

When you take your car to Johnson's for a wax job, you really get a thorough job. They wash your car first, clean off all road film, rub on a heavy wax coating, and when that's finished they start all over again and give it a second coat of wax.

This last operation is what's important to you as a car owner. This is what makes a good wax job last. But Johnson's will go even further if you prefer.

Later on, about a month later when the paste wax has thoroughly hardened they'll give your car a final coating of liquid wax. This acts as a permanent seal, and will keep your car shining brightly. In fact, Johnson's claim it probably won't have to be waxed again.

Such symptoms can usually be attributed to a poor mattress. Why be content with an old mattress that is lumpy and uncomfortable? Why not stop in at East Stroudsburg Bedding Co. showrooms, Main & Fifth St., Stroudsburg, and select one that will be feathery — buoyant, soft, and restful.

THERE'S NO better time to acquire this splendid sleeping comfort than right now.

East Stroudsburg Bedding Co. manufacturers hollywood beds, innerspring mattresses and those heavenly foam rubber mattresses. Since they sell factory direct to the consumer, the customer can take advantage of substantial savings.

East Stroudsburg Bedding Co. also handles a large summer furniture line and specializes in custom upholstery work.

Wheat Allotments Now Available

FARMERS on land on which no wheat was seeded for grain for all of the years 1952, 1953, and 1954 may apply for a 1955 wheat acreage allotment, according to David H. Griffith, chairman of the Monroe County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

To be considered for an allotment on a farm which had no wheat seeded for grain for any of those years, the farmer must apply in writing to his county ASC committee by June 30.

Blank application forms are available at the county ASC office for use in filing requests for allotments.

Fix Drawer Joints

Joints in desk and bureau drawers that persist in coming loose can be fixed permanently by gluing triangular corner blocks inside the joints. The blocks should be made out of hardwood.

Direct Calls Made For Fresh Air Children

NO ORGANIZED plan is scheduled for the visit to the Pocono Mountains this summer of New York City's underprivileged children, part of the group who annually head for the country in the New York Herald Tribune's Fresh Air Fund.

Mrs. John Wilson, who volunteered in past years to head the local program, said last night there is no official program here this year. No volunteers have come forth to accept the chairmanship, she said.

Meanwhile local persons are arranging for return visits of youngsters by direct contact with the New York newspaper.

MOST OF them are requesting the same children who visited here in previous years.

According to Mitchell Jablons, director of public relations for the Herald Tribune Fresh Air Fund, more than 100,000 underprivileged children living in New York City's slum tenement areas face the prospect of spending the hot summer months playing on teeming city streets, around garbage cans, or in littered alleyways.

He said the Fund needs places in the country for children. Jablons called for local residents to take some of the youngsters into homes and afford them a needed trip away from the crowded city.

Cherry Lane

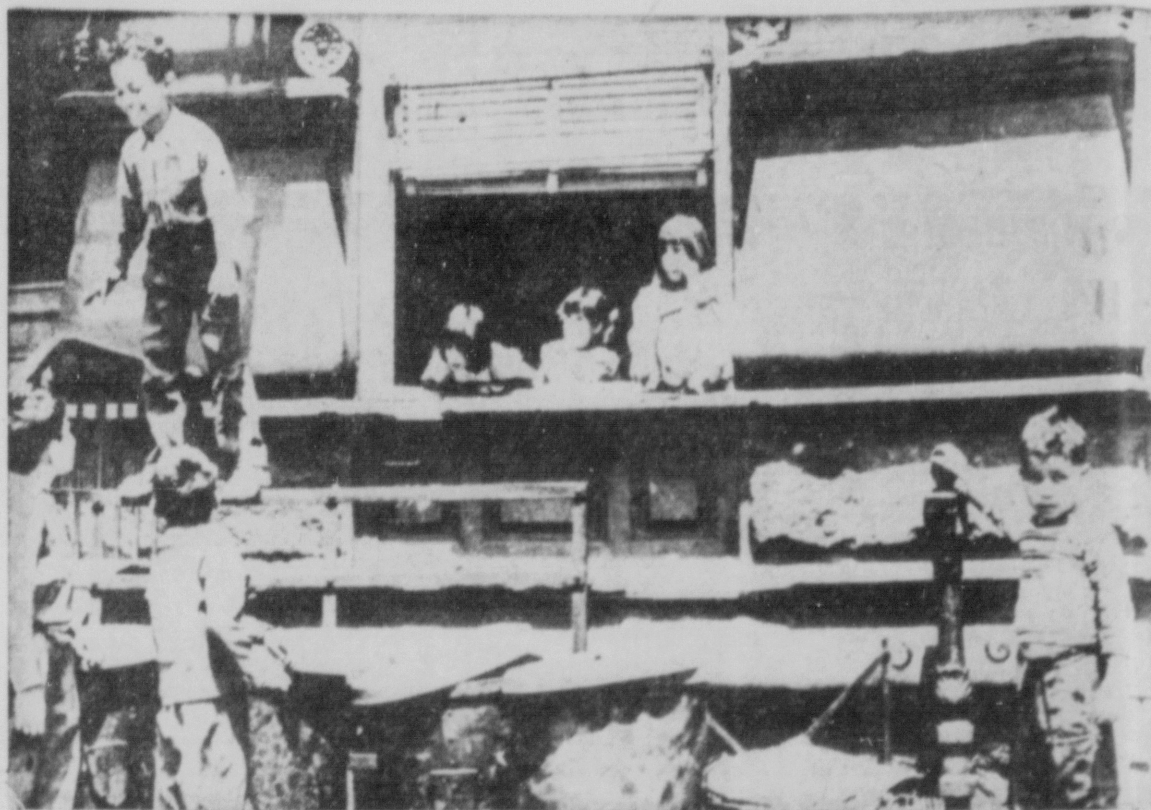

Mrs. William Clugston

MR. AND MRS. Edward Tiebout spent a few days here over the past weekend.

Callers at the home of Mrs. Minnie Lesoine on Sunday included Mr. and Mrs. William MacMullen, of Brooklyn, N.Y.; their granddaughter and a friend. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brown and daughter, of Philadelphia, also called, as did Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tiebout of Kew Gardens, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Repchak and children Joan and Donald, and Mr. and Mrs. Irving Seaton, all of East Stroudsburg.

The names of Sam Sebring and Roy Sebring were inadvertently included in the list of trustees who attended the supper meeting at the Cherry Lane Church recently. These men, while not trustees, helped mow the lawn previous to the meeting and on many occasions gave invaluable help to the church in various ways.

The first Bible society was founded in Great Britain 150 years ago.

THESE YOUNGSTERS are a few of more than 100,000 New York underprivileged children seeking summer vacations in this region. They are awaiting word from the New York Herald Tribune's Fresh Air Fund to pack their gear and head into the country.

Man, Wife, Friend Killed; Burned To Death In Auto

DUANESBURG, N.Y. (AP) — A man, his wife and a friend were killed yesterday when their automobile crashed into a tree and burst into flames a mile and a half east of this Schenectady County village.

The three were Harry Payne, 45, and his wife, Mildred, 44, of Unadilla, and Leslie Spangleburg, 41, of Susquehanna, Pa.

The bodies were so badly charred that it was nearly 10 hours before State Police were able to establish the identifications.

THE PAYNES lived at a trailer camp at Unadilla, Delaware County.

The proprietor of the trailer camp, Mrs. Louise Salisbury, said that Mrs. Payne had been visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Twining, at St. Johns, Newfoundland, where Twining is stationed with the U.S. Army.

Mrs. Salisbury said that Payne and Spangleburg drove to Boston to meet Mrs. Payne. The three apparently were returning to Unadilla when the accident occurred, troopers said.

The first persons on the scene said they found the car a mass of flames.

Atomic locomotive as designed by Dr. Lyle C. Borst, Professor of Physics at the University of Utah.

When can we make atomic locomotives?

Atomic locomotives are not just a wild Buck Rogers dream of the distant future.

They can be made right now.

Plans for an atomic locomotive have already been drawn up. As you can see in the picture above, it would look like a conventional engine, except for a 200-ton steel block in the center, which would house the nuclear reactor. It would have the power of four diesels — yet would run for a year on only eleven pounds of fuel.

We point this out merely to emphasize the fact that atomic science is progressing much faster than you may realize — opening up fabulous new fields of opportunity for the American people.

In fact, America is growing and changing so fast that you might well call this our age of opportunity. Just look, if you will, at some of the things that are happening in the U. S. today:

- 1. SOARING POPULATION—Each month our population increases by enough people to make a Syracuse, N. Y., or a Des Moines, Iowa. By 1960 there will be about 180 million of us. This means huge new demands for everything people eat, wear and enjoy.
- 2. MONEY AND SAVINGS—Americans have over twice the spending power today than we had in 1940. And savings have risen from $68.5 billion in 1940 to an estimated $250 billion in 1953.
- 3. WE'RE GOING SUBURBAN—With new suburbs springing up like magic near every city, there's a tremendous demand for houses and everything that goes in them. Not to mention schools, streets, hospitals and shopping centers.
- 4. MORE LEISURE TIME—Americans are working shorter hours — and today 40,000,000 people have paid vacations. This is a great boon to the hotel and transportation business, to the sport, hobby and entertainment fields.
- 5. $500 BILLION OPPORTUNITY—Because we've grown so fast, and because the war halted civilian construction, there is now a $500 billion backlog of demand for goods and services to build highways, schools, offices and factories — a backlog that must be filled. (For example, we have to nearly double our school system in the next few years.)

Any way you add it up, America today is a land of phenomenal growth, change and expansion. And in the long run, you're bound to benefit — whether you're a businessman, or a farmer, or a housewife, or an industrial worker.

In short, as America grows... so do your opportunities!

The better you know America,
the better the future looks!

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

The sound of the ambulance siren has become common these past few days, but it can never become commonplace to anyone with a family. Whenever its heart-stopping wail comes up the street you instantly start taking a mental census of where everybody is supposed to be at that particular moment.

Herb Crane and I were passing each other on Seventh St. when the ambulance sped up Main. We both stopped dead in our tracks for the count of ten and then, having accounted for everybody, started to breathe again.

There comes a time in your life when you do that, we agreed. However from the vantage point of having had a son away at college for a year, he could offer the cold comfort that "It's much easier to worry about them by the year than by the day."

Kept thinking about how true that was, not only about worry but about fussing, too. With a Boy Scout in Florida, you go around happily about how much fun he must be having. Just let him be doing the same things around home, and you're nagging at him to get busy, or fussing at him for not eating his vegetables, or worrying if he's ten minutes late getting home from the river.

Well, as long as we're in a catastrophic frame of mind, we might go on and report a real catastrophe. Larry and Rosemary Levy's Tinker is dead. That is sad news to anyone who knew the lovable pomeranian, but particularly sad to the Stroudsburg Juniors who were so enchanted at the way he played his part as "Flopi" in "Seventeen." Tinker sickened and died on Saturday at the age of three and a half, and few dogs have given so much pleasure to so many people in such a short time.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

It was just after ten o'clock yesterday morning when the telephone in our parking lot rang and Jack LaBar answered. The caller was a customer who had purchased a bird bath from us several weeks ago, and who wondered what on earth could be wrong with it. "It is exactly like my neighbors," she declared, "the only difference being that the birds bathe in hers and they won't in mine. They come to drink, but then away they go."

Jack, who has a wonderful sense of humor and a ready quip, was completely stumped for once. At first gassy, the problem might seem funny — but actual it isn't. A bit of inquiring around indicates that even some of our employees have the same trouble with their own bird baths. Apparently some birds are as temperamental as humans.

"Did you put something shiny in the center?" Jack asked. The caller said she had, but the birds still put their beaks into the air, and ignore her bathing invitation. Then Jack volunteered the idea that maybe the water level was unsatisfactory, but the customer said no. She's tried all levels, and they still prefer the bath next door.

"Now," Jack demanded of me, "what on earth do you say in a situation like that? The lady is unhappy, and there isn't anything I know of to suggest. I did say that maybe it isn't a sunny enough place. So she's going to move it. 'Boy' he laughed, 'this sure is a problem for the birds.'"

Mentioning it in the lounge a little later, I learned that our customer is not the only one with difficult featured friends. Lorraine Flagler's been having an identical problem for years, and it's reached the point where her friends ever send her cartoons on the subject. "One of them showed a gorgeous big estate with a big, fancy bird bath, and the birds ignoring it while they fluttered around in a mud puddle," Lorraine explained. "Some people have said that it's because my home is too near the river, but I just don't believe it. I thought for a time they didn't like the color, so I painted it several times — I've tried green, blue, and just about everything else, but they still use it only for drinking."

As she sipped her coffee, Lorraine went on to tell about the crazy catbirds that congregate around her cottage. "Yesterday I was sure I heard a cow bell in the distance, but do you know what it was? It was a catbird on the hub of my car, pecking away and having a wonderful time. He'd fly over to the bird bath for a drink, and then back to the car wheel—but he didn't bathe once."

Maybe, I said, the answer in her case would be to put the attractive hub in the bath. Even that, she fears, wouldn't do. "Nothing seems to work at all," she sighed. "It's disgusting really."

I sincerely hope someone reading this column will tell me why birds should be so ungrateful for intended hospitality. It's as bad as Fido biting the hand that feeds him. Peter Wyckoff has the only sensible solution. If all else fails, he suggests organizing a Society for Increasing The Uses Of Bird Baths Snubbed By Birds.

Landy Lowers Mile Record

Turku, Finland (CP) — John Landy of Australia ran the mile in the phenomenal three minutes and 58 seconds yesterday, clipping one and four tenths seconds off Roger Bannister's world record and becoming the second man to crash the four-minute barrier.

The 24-year-old Melbourne flier also was timed in 3:41.8 for the 1,500 meters, another world mark if approved by the International Amateur Athletic Federation. Both clockings must be recognized by the IAAF.

Landy, who has been knocking at the door of the four-minute mile for two years, was racing against five international foes, including Britain's Chris Chataway, who paced Bannister to his record 3:59.4 performance at Oxford May 6.

The combination cinder track at Turku Stadium was lightning fast and the weather was ideal. A blazing sun beat down on the track and an expectant crowd of 8,000. The temperature was 77 degrees.

Landy didn't follow his normal formula of setting the pace all the way. After a comparatively slow first quarter in which he lay back in second place, he shot to the front just before the half-mile mark and finished blazing.

The crowd, sensing a record performance, went wild. As Landy clipped off the final laps in short, lightning steps, the crowd shouted him on with the yells, "Landy, Landy, Landy."

As the lean, young Aussie shot across the finish line, wearing a broad smile and showing no signs of exhaustion, the spectators broke into a thunderous roar. Then they swarmed from the stands, broke down the fences and carried Landy from the stadium on their shoulders.

Landy, showing a tremendous finishing kick, was 35 yards ahead of Chataway as he breasted the tape. Chataway was timed in 4:04.0, followed by Finland's Olavi Vuorisalo in 4:07 and Dennis Johanson, also of Finland, in 4:07.6. Two other Finns, Ilmari Taipale and A. Kallio, trailed.

"I'm too happy to be able to speak," the jubilant Aussie said. "It hadn't been for Chris Chataway's chasing me around the track I would never have made it. I knew he was immediately behind me and that he would not hesitate to pass me if I slowed up the very least."

"I have never run on a better track than this and I would like to call this race the 100 per cent contest."

Finnish track authorities said they felt there was no doubt Landy's clocking for both the 1,500 meters and mile would be recognized as world records. Fully authorized timers were set up at both the 1,500 meter mark and the mile finish line.

The lap times were announced for meter distances rather than for yards. The times were 58 seconds for the first 400 meters, 1:57.9 for 800 meters, 3:27.2 for the 1,000 and 3:56 flat for the 1,500.

It was the sixth tremendous mile run of the year by the world's crack crew of runners who set out in a wholesale assault on Guner Haegg's old record of 4:01.4, set in 1945.

Until yesterday, Bannister had the best of these when he streaked the distance in 3:59.4.

Special Fund Game Listed

A special fund raising game will be featured by the Stroudsburg Little League tomorrow, at its official field near Stroudsburg Playground.

All six teams in the circuit will take part in the action, each playing a total of two innings. The first two clubs will clash at 6:15 p.m.

Entries

Teams taking part in the program are Peoples Coal, Colonial Diner, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Penn-Stroud National Bank, Penn-Stroud Hotel and Security Trust.

The Mothers Auxiliary will feature a cake walk immediately after the game.

Wilhelm Hurt In Accident

New York (AP) — Hoyt Wilhelm, workhorse relief pitcher of the New York Giants, was in his customary place in the bullpen yesterday despite injuries suffered in an automobile accident Sunday night.

Original Report
Original reports on the 20-year-old righthander's injuries indicated they were of a serious nature, but a later examination by Dr. Anthony Palermo, the Giants' physician, showed no harmful effect. Wilhelm suffered leg lacerations and bruises on the right arm.

Allen Directs Watchtower Publicity

ONE OF THE largest religious assemblies ever held in Cincinnati, Ohio, is scheduled for June 24-27. The convention sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society is one of seventeen that will be held throughout the United States and Canada this summer.

Malcolm S. Allen

this convention. Mr. Allen is well acquainted in the Stroudsburg-Easton area, having lived in Saylorsburg for three years before he began to travel for the Watchtower Society.

He has delivered several Bible lectures in the area, thus becoming acquainted with many of the residents here. Mrs. Allen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy K. Howell of RD1, Saylorsburg, Monroe County.

AFTER SERVING FIVE years on the headquarters staff of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society in Brooklyn, New York, Mr. Allen then moved to Saylorsburg and engaged in the ministry there. Early in 1952 he was assigned to serve as a circuit minister in the northwest Iowa and southern Minnesota where he served in an organizational capacity until July, 1953.

At that time he was appointed to serve as circuit minister in New York City where he remained until May of 1954. At present Mr. Allen is travelling the south-central states supervising the activity of some 450 congregations in Tennessee, Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky and southern Ohio.

Allen said, "From 12-15,000 ministers are expected to attend. It is significant in this materialistic age that people will gather from 24 states for Christian worship."

Why Chiropractic?

By Dr. Elwood S. Field

Your child's good health during formative years may determine his whole future. Many so-called "dull" children are not dull at all, they simply have an unnoticed defect or illness retarding normal development of perception or expression.

If your children are especially active, and most healthy children are active, they absorb more than their share of falls, jolts, jars, and sprains. The concussion of such force frequently produces spinal misalignments, which, in technical language, are referred to as subluxations.

Regular spinal check-ups are just as important as other types of health examinations. Small displacements of vertebrae in the neck or back which place pressure on delicate nerve fibers results in malfunction somewhere in the body.

Nerve force from the brain channeled over the spinal nerves is necessary to run the body... just as electrical circuits perform necessary services in the home. If nerve force is interrupted, the organs supplied by those nerves fail to perform their proper function. It might be the stomach which is affected, or the heart, the eyes or any other organ of the body.

A chiropractor is a trained specialist in detecting interference to transmission of nerve energy caused by misalignments or subluxations in the spine. He can determine whether or not your child has any trouble of this nature, and correct subluxations with spinal adjustments.

(One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific chiropractic, written by Dr. Elwood S. Field whose office is located at 171 Washington St. Tel.: 2306, East Stroudsburg.)

Brotherhood Will Hear Henry Schmitt

HENRY SCHMITT, President of the Brotherhood of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in New York City will be the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of St. John's Lutheran Brotherhood tonight at 7:30 o'clock on the lawn of the Dunkelberger home on Broad St., South Stroudsburg.

Mr. Schmitt is an active layman in New York and makes his summer home in the Poconos. At this meeting plans will be made for the annual ladies' night during August and Parke W. Kunkle, the president, desires a large attendance of the men of St. John's.

John E. Dunkelberger and the pastor, the Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlson, will be hosts for the meeting. In case of rain the meeting will be held in the social rooms of the church.

Jehovah Witnesses Groups Here To Attend Assembly

THE LOCAL CONGREGATIONS of Jehovah's Witnesses will attend one of the district assemblies being held from coast to coast according to Fred N. Severud, presiding minister here.

Around 100 from this area will journey to Fenway Park, Boston, Mass., where a four-day program has been arranged beginning on Thursday and to be climaxed Sunday the 27th with a public lecture entitled "God's Love to the rescue in Man's Crisis" to be given by a Representative of the Watchtower Society from the Brooklyn Headquarters.

Twenty-one similar Assemblies from coast to coast and Canada will be conducted this summer for the purpose of increased Bible education and to show how world events correspond to Bible prophecies.

MR. SEVERUD said that the local group will assist in concentrated preaching and in personally inviting the public to attend the sessions there.

Several will be baptised as ministers of Jehovah's Witnesses, and others have volunteered their services to assist in the cafeteria department.

It is expected that upwards of 12,000 will attend from the nearby states.
